WATER REGULATIONS FOR TEXAS AGENTS IN 2026

In-Person Class

Instructed by Charles Porter

This two-hour course provides an up-to-the-minute update on water issues across Texas, including the most significant proposed changes in water policies from the last special legislative session, updates on data centers, and how groundwater conservation districts are interpreting their rules. The course also includes a deep dive into final changes to contracts involving water disclosure and water notice requirements. This course focuses on emerging possibilities for the upcoming legislative session and the significant changes taking place around the state.
